being a violent form of hunger.It should be just given the Lord Mayor the meat juice which he had been refused for the last 17 days of his fast, it was stated. The bulletin said that the Lord Mayor had passed his nourishment with the meat juice on August 12.MacSwiney Still Delirious.
The British prison officials continued to put liquid meat juice into the Lord Mayor's mouth during the Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 21.—Making his first speech of the campaign

New York today again challenged his democratic opponents to show by public utterances where he stands on the league of nations issue.
He declared the nation cannot take seriously the democratic insistence that the covenant shall be considered for acceptance as it stands, and added that for "such a rejection" he had stood unflinchingly. He also asserted that he had long consistently an international association in the interest of peace, but could not under present con-

plan.JUDGE DECLARES

Try This Plan

I rented my light housekeeping rooms after the first insertion of an ad in the classified section of the Gazette," said Mrs. Larson, 103 North Chatham street.
If you have a spare room in your house follow Mrs. Larson's plan and place a small ad at a small cost in the Gazette. The results will be astonishing.

Disconcerts Democrats Who Hoped for His Support[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago, Ill., Oct. 21.—Elhu Root's speech in New York favoring the ratification of the present league of nations covenant to meet American objections is now the big topic of discussion at political headquarters of both parties. The importance of Mr. Root's pronouncement is expected to be a factor in the hands of the next administration or the head of another American peace commission which will negotiate with European governments concerning reservations or changes in the covenant of the league.Mr. Root's expressed friendliness to the present league did not come as a shock to the "irreconcilables" but it was believed he would never make such a statement without something behind it in advance. Here is the position of Mr. Root's speech which is being accepted now as the cardinal principle of the next administration if Mr. Harding should be elected:
"Mr. Root's speech was the agreement leading the league shall be accepted absolutely unchanged or shall be modified to meet the American objections. I would be glad to change so as to obviate those (the American) objections. Then would follow an ordinary common of Irish freedom. The program was given under the auspices of the national committee on Irish independence."This is not a sectarian or racial issue, as many would have us believe; it is a humanitarian one in which America, who stands for a government of the people and who wants to keep imperialistic powers from oppressing weaker peoples, should be vitally interested," said Dr. Cantwell, Unione of the principal speakers of the evening.Three Speeches Made

The other two lecturers, James Walsh, newspaper man of New York city, and Peter Golden, also of New York, cousin to Lord Mayor MacSwiney,

The Letters of Tessie and Joe

DEAR TESSIE:

While I was eating supper this evening and trying at the Dally Canned Soup Co.'s expense to break the spirit of a so-called porthouse steak, I thought of this new "bring your own lunch" movement that the clerks and stenographers are starting all over the country, and the thought that the restaurant keepers are going to have the skids put under their prices and the glowing look removed from their faces gave me the courage to make a last stand against that so-called porthouse steak.

I never did think much of restaurant keepers as desirable citizens, and when they rose in a body and started to charge extra for bread and butter I scratched them off my social list entirely. I'll never forget the first time I picked up a menu card and read in coyly shrinking type at the bottom: "Hereafter a nominal charge of ten cents will be made for each order of bread and butter." I was with Willie Applebaum at the time. He's a salesman for Old Faithful suspensory of Jewell-time. He's a Quaker descent, and I bump him every now and then. He's a good fellow but he has a mania for only wanting to treat every third time.

"A nominal charge, Wienie," I said to him. "What do you suppose that means, if anything?"

"Search me. I stopped reading just about the time Webster's dictionary came out," said Wienie.

Well, we passed a library on the way back to the hotel so we stopped and I asked if we could play with the dictionary a little while, and we looked up "nominal" and found it meant "existing in name only." Existing in name only, Tessie, and me having just paid out twenty cents for a nickel's worth of bread and butter not ten minutes before!

So ever since then I've always taken it for granted that if I ever die rich I won't leave a cent to anybody that ever had a relative in the restaurant business, and if the great flapper army of $15 a week stenographers wins the battle and makes the restaurant safe for stenography by carrying their own lunch for a few weeks, why hope they all get raised to $10.50 and then marry their bosses the baby a pair of shoes. If they're too big just lay them aside till his feet catch up.

Yours faithfully,
JOE.

The baby has an exciting encounter with Mrs. Brennan's off-spring tomorrow. Details in Tessie's letter.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I read your answers daily and am coming to you with a request. Nine months ago I came from Europe to this country. Never before have I lived for a long time in an English-speaking country. And while there are many forms in the social intercourse of this country like those in central and eastern Europe, I still must discover from time to time deficiencies in my behavior. I have no intimate enough friends here to ask them for clearing up on the subject. I thought maybe there are books in this country dealing with the manners and customs in social life. If so, I beg you to be so kind as to name a good one.

FOREIGNER.

Your desires to improve your deportment to conform with the rules of your adopted country are most commendable. You will find very helpful books on the subject of etiquette at your public library.

If you wish to have one for constant reference I would advise you to buy one. Any good book store will have a good recommendation to you the one that will best fit your needs.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am very anxious over a problem and thought I would write to you. My husband is a Civil War veteran and was injured during that war by being run over by a truck. He is a great cure, but as I cannot afford to hire help, I am trying to care for him myself. Now I am told that I will not be able to draw a pension after he passes away. Is this true?

He broke down in health when I was young and I married my husband for a home and the hope of drawing a pension after his death to take care of myself. Will you tell me whether I will be able to draw a pension or not?

THANK YOU.

As you do not state the year of your marriage I cannot tell you definitely.

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

Miss Dorothy E. Holloway of Williamsport, Pa., is the first woman to win a scholarship established under the auspices of the Pennsylvania railroad. The award has just been announced by Mrs. Robert C. Clifton, Wright chairman of Department No. 3, Pennsylvania Railroad Woman's Division for War Relief.

The scholarship was established this year to commemorate the work done during the world war by the members of Department No. 3 in making surgical dressings for the American troops, and also as a memorial to the men of the freight traffic department of the Pennsylvania railroad who gave their lives for their country in the conflict.

Under the terms of the scholarship the winner, Miss Holloway, is entitled to pursue a course at the University of Pennsylvania to which women are admitted. She has chosen the general educational course.

The competition was open to sons and daughters of present or deceased employees of the freight traffic department of the Pennsylvania railroad and to the sons and daughters of members of Department No. 3.

Miss Holloway, who is 17 years old, was born in Williamsport and was graduated from the high school in that city, where she received marked recognition for scholarship. Her father, William J. Holloway, has been in the service of the Pennsylvania railroad at Williamsport since 1874. He is at present chief clerk to W. G. Spangle, division freight agent, at Williamsport.

LEATHER TRIMMING IS SMART ON THIS NOBBY SPORT SUIT

...Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man eighteen years of age. About a year ago I started going with a girl seventeen.

At first it was the hardest thing in the world to make friends with her, but later she became the dearest girl to me in the world.

The time came when I had to go off to school. We kept up a regular correspondence for about six months. When she heard that I had been going with girls in the other town, which was not true, she stopped answering my letters and would not listen to me. I thought I would try a new plan and not pay as much attention to her as I had and it worked for a while.

Not long ago she moved to another town and because I was not there to see her off she was angry. I have not heard from her since, except through friends, and she refuses to see me.

Before she left she told some of my friends that I should forget it all. I love this girl with all my heart and want you to advise me what to do. I don't know how to make friends with her again. (J. B. A.)

The girl seems to have a jealous and exacting nature. Wait about a month and then write her a friendly letter, not mentioning anything unpleasant. Let the past remain forgotten. I believe that she will feel better by that time and will reply to your letter.

She is so young that she has not control of her feelings and imagination. She cannot herself much unhappiness because she dwells on what she considers slights. In a few years she will gain in poise and will not notice the petty troubles which cause so much misunderstanding.

By ELOISE.

I seem to have talked a lot about sports clothes this fall, but really, when one sees them everywhere it is hard not to talk about them. School girls simply adore all clothes which hint of sports lines and they look so smart and pretty in them that it is no wonder other women envy them and copy their youthful jaunty styles for street and general utility wear. The new sports suits show many interesting little features, such as vests, scarfs attached to collars, double pockets, and unusual color combinations. Tweeds and homespun are often trimmed with insects or bird wings, of red, hunter's green, brown, purple, or some other brilliant shade. This color touch is very welcome for out-of-door wear.

This singularly smart sport suit is made of soft tan duvelyn. The coat is a plain belted model made in the style with a collar in brown leather. A vest of the same material adds smartness as well as warmth to the suit and it is placed in the leather. It is fringed in leather. The whole idea is rather new and novel and is altogether pleasing.

Roumania has recently placed large orders for print paper in Canada, instead of in Finland and Sweden as heretofore.

Paris from the Count Jean de la Greze, to whom she was married in 1810.

Runners that martial troubles between Bleamir Steele and her titled European husband had caused a breach that had led to a quiet divorce have reached this country on several occasions during the last few months.

These rumors were given added strength recently when Mr. and Mrs. Steele returned from a trip abroad, during which for a time they were guests at the Paris home of the count and countess, 127 rue de Longchamps, Paris. It is now supposed that when Mr. and Mrs. Steele were visiting their daughter abroad, the divorce had been granted, and she was living alone in the great Parisian house.

The countess is the eldest of the Steele children. Her marriage to the Count de la Greze ten seasons ago caused more than ordinary interest in society circles here and abroad. After the ceremony the count and countess left this country and made their home at the count's Paris home.

Some years ago they spent a year on the island of Jersey and then returned to this country, taking up their residence in Washington. During the last year they have been living at the Paris home.

Through her mother, the Countess de la Greze is a granddaughter of the late Seth Barton French, one of New York's most prominent bankers. Her father, Charles Steele, was admitted to partnership in the Morgan firm in 1909.

Roumania has recently placed large orders for print paper in Canada, instead of in Finland and Sweden as heretofore.

Paris from the Count Jean de la Greze, to whom she was married in 1810.

Runners that martial troubles between Bleamir Steele and her titled European husband had caused a breach that had led to a quiet divorce have reached this country on several occasions during the last few months.

These rumors were given added strength recently when Mr. and Mrs. Steele returned from a trip abroad, during which for a time they were guests at the Paris home of the count and countess, 127 rue de Longchamps, Paris. It is now supposed that when Mr. and Mrs. Steele were visiting their daughter abroad, the divorce had been granted, and she was living alone in the great Parisian house.

The countess is the eldest of the Steele children. Her marriage to the Count de la Greze ten seasons ago caused more than ordinary interest in society circles here and abroad. After the ceremony the count and countess left this country and made their home at the count's Paris home.

Some years ago they spent a year on the island of Jersey and then returned to this country, taking up their residence in Washington. During the last year they have been living at the Paris home.

Through her mother, the Countess de la Greze is a granddaughter of the late Seth Barton French, one of New York's most prominent bankers. Her father, Charles Steele, was admitted to partnership in the Morgan firm in 1909.

West Side Bowlers Set New Records in City League

SHOOT 2799 IN THREE GAMES AND 1028 IN SINGLE

West Side No. 1 tumbled all previous records in the City Bowling League Wednesday night when they broke the city record for three games, five men, and also set the mark for one game of five men. The new marks are 2,799 for three games, 16 pins more than the 1915 record of 2,783 made by the Samson Tractors; and 1,028 for a single game, 14 pins more than the figure set up by the Samsons last year at 1,014.

The big single score was made when Ryan crushed for 290. Filgers hit for 212. Patton for 208. Cunningham 191 and Cornell 181. They also hit the wood for 903 in their first game of the evening.

These records were made while bowling against the Gazette Commercial printers.

Wednesday night games were decided by one-sided thrashings, no splits in the straight results. Crescents came across with a big game, Hughes rolling 212, to defeat Janesville Machine Co. The Bake-Rites took three from Lawrence Lunch and Samsons rapped the same number from Ross Printers.

ELLIOTT ATTRACTS EYES OF CRITICS

"Rowdy" Elliott, former player on the Samson ball team, has already attracted the attention of the critics for his work at half back on the Wisconsin football squad. He is one of several badgers named in the early lists of possibilities for the Conference all-star team.

Here is a list of those players who have attracted attention thus far:

Fullbacks—Crangle (Illinois), Sandt (Wisconsin), Sketke (Michigan), Kivie (Indiana), Reuben (Minnesota), Wilman (Ohio State), Hanz (Chicago).

Halfbacks—Alquist (Illinois), Stuchcomb (Ohio State), Fletcher (Illinois), Elliott (Wisconsin), Gransnick (Northwestern), Lane (Northwestern), Williams and Winton (Indiana).

Quarterbacks—B. Fletcher (Illinois), Cole (Chicago), A. Devine (Iowa), Dwyer (Wisconsin), Palmer (Northwestern), Aronson (Minnesota), Ends-Carney (Illinois), Belding (Iowa), Crisler (Chicago), Weston (Wisconsin), Eckberg (Minnesota), Turner (Northwestern), Myers (Ohio State).

Tackles—Stater (Iowa), Olander (Illinois), Jackson (Chicago), Scott (Wisconsin), Penfield (Northwestern), Goetz (Michigan).

Guard—Dunne (Michigan).

Centers—Dwyer (Illinois), Hathaway (Northwestern), Nick (Michigan).

STATE PIN MEET AT MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Oct. 21.—At a meeting of the state officials of the Wisconsin Bowling association held Wednesday night, final settlement was made whereby the coming state tournament is to be held in Milwaukee at a price of 75 cents per series of three games, which is the original figure that the state committee proposed last spring.

The alley owners demonstrated that they were good sportsmen by taking the tournament at a loss to themselves, but for the good of the tournament as originally outlined.

The alley proprietors made this concession for the good of tennis, and from now on the machinery will hum to secure entries.

SAMSON ENG. GIRLS FORM BOWLING FIVE

Girls of the Samson Engineering Company have the distinction of forming the first woman's bowling team in the city this season. They are now practicing and plan to bowl each Wednesday night at the West Side alleys. It is possible that a second girls five will be made up at the same plant.

Those on the team are Alice Pope, captain, Margaret Nolan, Mollie Byrne, Aruba Gray and Edna Bierkness.

CENTRE ON WAY TO PLAY HARVARD

Danville, Ky., Oct. 21.—Centre college football team today was put through its final practice preparation for its game with Harvard next Saturday. Today the team will board a special train with 150 Kentucky rooters bound for the scene of the scrimmage.

Basketball Officials to Meet About Rules

New York, Oct. 21.—Basketball coaches, officials and authorities will attend a meeting here Nov. 6 of the joint committee on basketball rules by Dr. J. E. Roycroft of Princeton. A novel feature will be a demonstration game between two teams to illustrate suggestions for amendments and new additions to the code.

Evansville High to Play Baraboo Saturday

Evansville—Evansville high school football team will play Baraboo Saturday at Evansville.

FIGHT DECISIONS

Portland, Ore., Oct. 21.—Lee Anderson, negro light heavyweight, at San Francisco, won a ten round decision from Sam Langford.

Old Warship to Be Used As Target in Florida

Philadelphia, The battleship Massachusetts, which fought in the battle of Santiago in 1898, will be towed from the Philadelphia Navy Yard to Pensacola, Fla., to serve as a target in a trial of the nation's coast defense artillery against an armored warship, it is announced.

The old warship's armor plate is 18 inches thick. Her protection nearly equals that of present day warships. The ship will be anchored off shore at a range of three miles from the bombarding battery.

HUGH TAKES JEAN OUT IN BIG CAR, INVITES HER TO GO TO DANCE

(Second Day of Story, "Taken for Granted")

Hugh Hurley was a newcomer in Weston. His father had recently come to the little city to take charge of the big steel mills there. Hugh found the change from big city life a little irksome at first, but before long he began to like it after a fashion.

He had money, and a big automobile. He had traveled a great deal and was a most interesting talker. Besides he was something of an athlete. By virtue of these facts he found himself to be in a class of his own in Weston.

Jeann Cane knew the minute she saw that big car in front of her home that it was Hugh who had whistled. As soon as Hugh saw her on the porch, he called, "I'm glad you're home, Jean. I've been wondering all day if you would go for a little ride with me tonight."

"Sure, Hugh, I'll be delighted," Jean hurried in for her coat. "I'm going for a ride with Hugh Hurley," she called back to her mother.

It was pleasant to hear the low hum of the powerful engine and to listen to Hugh's interesting comments on the things they passed and things in general. It was pleasant still to wave a fleet "Hello" to a bunch of her friends that were coming out of an ice cream parlor. Jean could feel their surprised eyes following her as she rode on in Hugh's car. She enjoyed it.

"My, but you're looking pretty to-night, Jean."

Jeann's face flushed slightly. Bob had never told her that. Probably Bob had never noticed it. My, but Bob was slow.

Jeann, I'm a happy fellow to know that you're going to the senior dance with me Saturday night."

"And, Hugh, I'm happy to go with you. Won't it be fun?"

Jeann felt Hugh's arm slipping around her. She knew she ought to push it away. But she didn't. It seemed too nice. Bob had never done that. Oh, how uninteresting Bob was!

Later in the evening when she waved "Good-by" to Hugh from her porch, she was elated. Wouldn't the girls envy her? Hugh Hurley really liked her. Of course he did. Jean knew it.

School Yells

For a number of weeks this newspaper has been printing school yells regularly. These yells are fathered from high schools all over the country.

Some schools have good yells—very good ones. Others are exceedingly bad. They exist only because some bright boys happened to think of them a number of years ago and they have been passed down from class to class until no one stops to think whether they are any good or not.

We suggest that every high school and every high school class appoint a committee to go over its catalogue of yells and see what improvements can be made.

Get a variety. There are a number of distinct types of yells if you will only look for them. Not all need be little for line singles.

OLD MAN PUZZLE

I am a famous university. My name is spelled with nine letters. In it you find: 1, a title; 2, a metal; 3, a weapon; 4, a coin; 5, part of a wheel; 6, a nail; 7, an adverb; 8, a preposition; 9, another preposition.

(Answer to yesterday's: pink, ink, th, pin.)

We needed the Grammar "Richard," asked the teacher, suddenly, "have you learned your history lesson?"

"No," answered the idle boy, slowly. "I ain't had no time for nothing but my grammar lesson yet."

BOY SCOUT FIRST AID SAVES LIFE OF YOUNG CANADIAN SPORTSMAN

Special to The Boys' and Girls' Newspaper.

Ottawa, Canada.—His first and training as a boy scout and his in-born pluck saved the life of Freddie Wade, 16-year-old boy of Renfrew, a town near this city.

While on a duck shooting expedition Freddie endeavored to pull a shot gun towards him from the bottom of a canoe when a duck suddenly rose before him. The gun was discharged and the full charge entered his right arm at the elbow.

"With remarkable grit, young Wade tore his shirt to pieces and, remembering his boy scout training, made a tourniquet to staunch the flow of blood. He bore the long journey to this city for hospital treatment with rare pluck. At the hospital it was found necessary to amputate the arm at the elbow.

Hospital physicians declare that Freddie's first aid training undoubtedly saved his life, as otherwise he would have bled to death on the long trip to the city.

Girlhood Days of Famous Women

Charlotte Bronte

"Oh, dear, I'm so tired. I wonder how long it took Christian to get to the top?" sighed Charlotte.

Sitting on a boulder, the little girl rubbed her tired legs and took off her shoes to rest her feet.

She was only six years old, so it is no wonder that her legs were tired, for she had climbed half way up one of the Yorkshire hills.

in "Pillar's Progress," which she had just finished reading, it didn't say anything about Christian's being tired the first day! "Maybe I'd better go home and ask daddy how long it takes to get there before I go on my pilgrimage," she said aloud.

Not many children have read "Pillar's Progress" at so young an age, but Charlotte Bronte was an unusual child and spent most of her time reading.

This is one reason why she could write famous stories and books when she grew up. Her most popular book is "Jane Eyre."

OLD LADY RIDDLE

When did Ruth treat Bonz badly? Answer to yesterday's: Sunday is the strongest day of the week, because all the rest are weak days.)

Curse of Drowning Is Wished on Abbey

London.—The sudden death of Michael P. Grace, father of the Countess of Donoughmore, recalls a legend connected with Battle Abbey which he rented from Sir Augustus Webster.

The great establishment was seized by Henry VIII and it is said that the last abbot pronounced a curse that the owners of it should meet death by drowning. It is stated that Lord Montague, who owned the property in the eighteenth century, was drowned, and a similar fate befell his two nephews, Lady Webster, wife of the present owner, was drowned three years ago and a short time ago the eldest daughter of the tenant then occupying the abbey lost her life in a similar way.

With the single exception of Prince Edward Island, all the provinces of Canada, including the Dominion government, have enacted workmen's compensation legislation.

SWEDEN SUFFERS SHORTAGE OF MONEY

Stockholm.—Sweden is suffering from a scarcity of money and an abnormal economic situation. This is reflected in the report of the State bank for September.

The money shortage depresses the stock exchange where prices of bonds and shares have touched a very low level, even old established industrial enterprises which pay dividends of 10 to 15 per cent being quoted below par.

Causes to which Sweden's unsettled condition is attributed here include the socialist program, emanating from the present government, such as the investigation whether socialization of industry and commerce lies within the borders of possibility, heavy taxation, an increasing demand for higher wages and the labor unrest.

Adding to this the growing debts to foreign countries through unnecessary imports and decreased production ascribed by many to the eight-hour day, one obtains a picture of the present economic position of Sweden.

If a young man is convinced that he will never amount to anything in the world it doesn't matter how soon he begins to part his hair in the middle and smoke cigarettes.

A company has been formed at Nottingham, England, to utilize the waste from coal mines in power production, briquet and concrete making and the distillation of by-products.
